Forecast For East Midlands
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Sunday 24 Jan 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Cold and dry in north, snow possible in southwest.

Today:
A cold and frosty start with any patchy fog slowly clearing. Bright elsewhere with some sunny spells. Dry in the north through the afternoon, turning cloudy in the south with a risk of sleet or snow for time, clearing later. Maximum temperature 3 deg C (37 deg F).

Tonight:
Dry and cold with plenty of clear spells for much of the region and a widespread frost. Scattered wintry showers pushing into the north and west through the early hours. Minimum temperature -5 deg C (23 deg F).

Monday:
Another cold day with bright or sunny spells and isolated wintry showers. Drier into the afternoon and evening, but turning breezy along the Lincolnshire coast. Very cold overnight. Maximum temperature 4 deg C (39 deg F).

Outlook for Tuesday to Thursday:
Mainly dry but cold Tuesday with coastal showers. Dry, bright but cold start Wednesday, with rain and milder temperatures sweeping west through the evening. Wet, windy but mild Thursday.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.